Introduction:

After looking into the dataset, I came up with the idea based on the sheet 'Match information' and 'Match Events'. (In the Jupyter Notebook you can see how I cleaned up the data to create a new data frame that included the information for further usage) There are 51 matches in EURO 2020 and each match has its own 'MatchID', using the 'MatchID' we can extract the 'Events' information from the sheet 'Match Events' to see what strategy the winning team used (Especially the champion team: Italy)

The reason why I didn't choose the sheet 'Match Stats' is because there are 193 different stats, compared to 'Match Events' (38). I think using 'Match Event' is better for our result presentation. (For more information: Jupyter Notebook cell [125]

My ideas are: (These are just the ideas I thought about today, feel free to add more inspirations and comments! I need to explore more about the data and look for more examples!)

• Objective 1: Match Outcomes

Letting users select from '...TeamName' or 'RoundName' or 'DateandTimeCET' to see the gaming results. Figure 1

• Objective 2: Analysis Strategies

From analyzing the 'Event' (maybe create a bar chart or any other graph for better visualization) to summarize the winning or losing team's strategies. (For example df['MatchID'] == 2024491 Figure 4 is the final game and from Figure 2 we can calculate how different Events impact the gaming results. (I need to ask TA about the 'Value' and 'rank' in the columns...)

And allowing the users to select their desired team (e.g. WorldCup Dashboard) to see the overall analysis. (Maybe we need to rethink our new dataset in order to reach our goal, let me know your ideas!)
